2 In para 2 of G.O No. J 973-5-Gt 5-09-5 & 27-9-1909, similar arrangements were sanctioned with regard to the Bench at Bangalore.

3 It is now reported that some of the Honorary magistrates at Bangalore, think that, under the present arrangement, they are in a way subordinate to the City magistrate, and are unwilling to make references to that officer. The District magistrate proposes that for this and other reasons, the establishment of the Bench may be transferred to the District magistrate's Court.

Sir,

Adverting to paras 3,4 and 5 and para 2 of Government Proceedings Nos.J.574-86/Cts.5-09-2 and J.973-85/Cts.5-09-5 dated 23rd August 1909 and 27th September 1909, respectively, directing that the establishment of the Bench Magistrate Court, Bangalore city will be in addition to the City Magistrate's Court, Bangalore, I have the honor to state that some of the Honorary Magistrates, who while in service had exercised 1st class Magisterial powers, are unwilling to make reference to the City Magistrate for any of their requirements and always look to the District Magistrate in such matters. They seem to think that by the existing arrangement they are made in a way subordinate to, or dependent upon the City Magistrate. Anticipating these onjections which may at first appear to be sentimental rather than real, I had suggested in para 3 of my letter No.113 dated 19/20th August 1909 that the establishment, of the Bench Magistrates Court may be attached to the District Magistrate's Court. Besides the Bench Magistrates Court which is started as an experimental measure requires careful and sympathetic treatment and supervision by the District Magistrate. In the Civil and Military Station, Bangalore also, the Bench Magistrates Court is a part of the District Magistrate's Court. Under

SIR,

With reference to your docket no. J3290-C&5-09-23 dated 30th April 1910 calling for my views as to whether the Establishment of the Bench Magistrate's Court may be attached to the District Magistrate's Court, I have the honor to state that the arrangement that is proposed by the District Magistrate of Bangalore is a desirable one and may be sanctioned considering that some of the Honorary Magistrates being retired Assistant Commissioners and of a co-ordinate status with the City Magistrate are in disfavour of the present arrangement.
